Hearst Calls on Hitler
William Randolph Hearst flew from Manhattan to Berlin and was received by Adolf Hitler. When asked about his conversation with the Nazi leader, the American publisher replied:

"Visiting Hitler is like calling on the President of the United States. One doesn't talk about it for publication."

Putzy Hanfstaengl, intimate friend of the Nazi leader and foreign attache of the Nazi government, who presented Mr. Hearst to Hitler, said:

"Mr. Hearst asked Hitler whether he could borrow me for his trip to Wales, to which Hitler laughingly replied, 'I envy Hanfstaengl, I wish I could go with you.'"

While Mr. Hearst is right in withholding information about his talk with the Nazi Reichsfuehrer, it is an affront to Americans to compare Hitler to the President of the United States. Mr. Hearst surely knows that Hitler is a complete antithesis to the system which is persecuting Jews, Catholics and Protestants because of their race or faith, and the freedom of the press and of conscience, crushing intellectuals who dare express ideas of progress and liberty and peace. Not can Mr. Hearst be ignorant of the fact that Hitler's hands are stained with blood—the blood of innocent men and women and also the blood of his own former comrades in crime who had helped him to assume the dictatorship over the German people.

Mr. Hearst's newspapers have always advocated religious liberty and freedom of the press. His newspapers have combated bigotry and race prejudice. His flirtations with Putzy Hanfstaengl, the Hitler apostle who in his autobiography sketches for the Harvard alumni volume made offensive references to the United States and to the Jewish people, are to say the least, extremely amazing.

Mr. Hearst's newspapers have consistently and vigorously opposed entangling alliances between the United States and foreign governments. By hobnobbing with Hanfstaengl and by his recent praise of Hitlerism, Mr. Hearst is giving aid and comfort to a foreign system of government that is repugnant to liberty-loving people everywhere and that is the antithesis of American democracy.

German Rearmament

The most startling testimony before the Senate committee which is investigating the munitions industry, is that the Hitler government has increased its purchase of military aircraft from one American firm from $6,000 in 1932 to $234,000 in 1933. Atonement Day Attracts More To Synagogues Than Last Year

With a final blast on the shofar, Jews in synagogues and temples throughout the world brought to a close the High Holiday season at sundown last night and returned home for the first meal in twenty-four hours.

Religious organizations estimated that synagogues services this year attracted a slightly larger number of worshippers than last year.

Yesterday's service was divided into four parts: Shacharith, the morning service; Musof, the additional prayers; Mincha, the afternoon prayer; and finally, Yehi, the special evening service, after which the shofar was sounded to indicate the close of the day of penitence.

Government Shows Its Hand Clearly on Anti-Semitism

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

VIENNA, Sept. 19.—The evidence that the Austrian government headed by Chancellor Kurt Schuehschlegl has every intention of carrying out a complete anti-Semitic program was seen here today in the announcement that Viennese Jewish children in elementary and middle schools in the Leopoldstadt district will be segregated in a separate all-Jewish school.

When the schools under the supervision of the Vienna municipality opened yesterday, Jewish children in the district were not permitted to register in the ordinary schools, but were directed to a special school for Jews. Christian children in this school were ordered to register in other schools.

Montreal Students Shun Strike on Race Issue

(Special to the J.D.B.)

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 19.—French-speaking students at the University of Montreal decided yesterday by an overwhelming majority not to join in a strike against admission of Jewish students.

At the same time it became known that university authorities had refused admission to thirty alien students on the ground that systematic notice be given to French Canadian students.

The strike agitation, it was learned, has been fostered by anti-Semitic cliques in the province.

Comments on Many Topics
Sermon topics varied from the Morro Cast disaster to "Religion's Minimum."
"When Israel is bidden to return unto the Lord, thy God," said Rabbi S. Wise at the Free Synagogue in Carnegie Hall, "the real challenge to him is to put an end to another and the commonest form of Jewish escape, the escape from moral obligations, from the spiritual imperatives of his tradition, the tragedy of this being that our failure to be equal to our high calling in part justifies our assaults and our assassinations and leaves us unforgotten against a world passionately keen to find flaws in them who are of the highest professions."
"Assimilation," declared Rabbi Herbert S. Goldstein yesterday morning at the Institutional Synagogue, 37 West 118th St., in an address evinced by the German Jewish situation. On the other

Synagogues, Anti-Religious Meetings Are Equally Well Attended

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

MOSCOW, Sept. 19.—Moscow synagogues and anti-religious meetings held by Jewish Communists were equally well attended here today, the former by aged Jews, the latter by Jewish youth.
One anti-religious meeting was held in a synagogue, part of which had been assigned as a club to young Jewish Communists. In another part of the synagogue aged worshippers held services. Two other large anti-religious meetings were conducted in a Jewish theatre and at the Club Communist.

At the same time a brass band concert, games and dances were arranged by anti-religious elements.

London News Chronicle Predicts Further 'Aryanization'

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Nazi government is preparing a decree depriving all German Jews of citizenship rights, except that German Jews abroad will continue to be entitled to protection by German diplomatic agents. The London News Chronicle reported today in a dispatch from Berlin. At the same time, the dispatch said, the Nazis are embarking on a wide anti-Jewish drive to oust the few Jews remaining in the German theatre and in the literary and artistic life of the nation.

The News Chronicle reports that only Germans whose ancestry can be proven "pure Aryan" and at least three generations will enjoy citizenship rights and the right to vote, after promulgation of the new law.

See Germany In Drive for Barter Pacts

Hull Speech Is Believed Direct Blow at Reich Boycott

(Special to the J.D.B.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Although he did not directly refer to it, Secretary of State Cordell Hull made what was obviously intended as an assault on the anti-German boycott at a press conference here yesterday when he declared himself of the opinion that boycotts are exceedingly unwise and generally don't pay, as they represent one more element that is obstructive.

The State Department is in the midst of a campaign to increase trade with all nations and Secretary Hull is industriously working out assignments for attempting to

Although all negotiations so far have been informal, it is apparent that Germany's proposals have disappointed the State Department to believe that the Reich is starving for American raw materials.

Barter Proposed

The proposals are understood to fall within the definitions of a barter arrangement under which Germany could buy large quantities of cotton, tobacco and other unfinished products, and send us in return a limited line of machinery and dyes, of the sort not manufactured in this country.

Together with foreign trade, Secretary Hull has mapped out a four-point program to invigorate trade.

1. Voluntary action by one nation to remove high tariff or other trade restrictions.

2. Agreements between two nations to increase trade. These constitute bi-lateral agreements and would take in a variety of methods, such as a trade agreement, a trade understanding, and a trade accord involving government credits.

3. Agreements between a number of nations.

4. World-wide accords, or multi-lateral agreements, under which a universal attempt is made to increase trade.

Wailing Wall No Spot To Blow a Ram's Horn

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, Sept. 19.—Chaim Ruben Horowitz, formerly of Poland and now residing in Tel Aviv, was arrested here today for attempting to blow the shofar, ram's horn, at the ancient Wailing Wall, only remaining wall of the Temple. Horowitz is believed to be a born Revisionist.

According to a ruling made by the international commission appointed by the League of Nations in 1929 for attempting to blow the shofar, after riots between Jews and Arabs had occurred there, the blowing of the shofar is prohibited. In the past year Aaron Zuckerman of Tel Aviv, also believed to have been a Revisionist, was fined for blowing the Wailing Wall for a similar offense.

Greetings Sent by Weizmann on Yom Kippur

U. S. Jews Must Remember Brethren in Reich, He Cables

American Jews must remember the plight of their German brethren on Yom Kippur, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, head of the Zionist committee, declared in a cabled message of greeting to the American Jews.

In his greeting, which was sent to the United Jewish Appeal, Dr. Weizmann praised the work of the organization and declared that there was an opportunity to settle many thousands of German Jewish refugees in Palestine, if the money was forthcoming.

Reads News Bulletin
"The traditional solemnity of Yom Kippur is tragically enhanced by the series of shattering events that have befallen the Jewish people during the past year," Dr. Weizmann stated.

"Countries that have lost their equilibrium have made the Jews the first victims of their moral unbalance. But this day of memorial that brings every good Jew to the United Synagogue, recalls the first thoughts to the stricken Jews of Germany.

"They are the prey of unreason and reaction to such that seems to be no end. In America, particularly, where freedom is abundant, the sorrow of German Jewry must often be the most profound tenderness.

Have Is Made Ready
"In Palestine there is being prepared a permanent haven for all those for whom there is no hope elsewhere. Opportunities are great for the colonization of many thousands of German Jewish families in the immediate future.

"It is for general American providence the funds so that our plans may be realized.
"I take this occasion also to render my deepest gratitude to the men and women of the theatrical profession who have realized the urgency of the cause of the refugees who are trying to raise funds through the performance on Thursday night in the Yankee Stadium.

"The fine humanitarianism is all the more gratifying because it is a non-sectarian gesture, typifying not only the splendid quality of the work of the theatre, but also the great heart of America.

"It is through such popular appeal that we can provide the means to rehabilitate them and also acquaint the world with their sad plight."

Mrs. Solomon Dies; Noted Restaurateur

Her Restaurant on Park Row Patronized by Judges, Newspapers

Mrs. Esther Solomon, who for thirty-six years conducted a restaurant on Park row and was known to thousands as "Mama Solomon," died yesterday in Bushwick Hospital, Brooklyn. Until a few months ago she was actively in charge of the restaurant, which was a well known eating place, patronized by judges, lawyers and newspapers.

Ever since the doors of her restaurant were opened Mrs. Solomon made it a standing rule that no one who asked for food should be turned away. She kept the rule even during the depression and fed thousands free.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow from her home, 398 Avenue N, Brooklyn.

Palestine Citrus Exports Go To Great Britain and Ireland

Of nearly 5,000,000 boxes of citrus fruits exported from Palestine during the season of 1933-34, the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State took approximately 3,500,000 cases—an increase of about 200,000 boxes over 1932-33—according to the Palestine Economic News.

Exports to continental Europe amounted to 1,900,000 cases, a rise of 800,000. The greatest increase was in Germany, which took approximately 1,100,000 cases, as against 750,000 cases during the previous season.

More than 300 celebrities of stage, screen, radio and opera are contributing their services. More than 3,000 additional performers will take part in sketches, scenes and revues.

Nathan Burkan, chairman of the amusement division, asserted that every artist whose name appears on the program has made a personal commitment to participate. The program has been fixed by Louis K. Sidney, chairman of the program committee, by definite timing of each act, insuring the certainty of each performer's appearance.

Position Perilous in War And Under Fascist Rule, Rabbi Goldstein Asserts

In connection with the United States Congress against War and Fascism to be held in Chicago September 28, 29 and 30, Rabbi Benjamin E. Goldstein has issued an appeal stressing the perilous position of the Jew during war and under a Fascist government.

"The Jews," he stated, "have been singled out as a group particularly vulnerable for attack. They are being chased and persecuted all over the world, traditionally living on sufferance, caricatured in a thousand ridiculous poses, the butt of constant jokes, they become actual a focal point for aroused resentment.

"They can be charged with anything and everything that is said about them can be believed. Ignorance, on the one hand, unscrupulousness, dishonesty on the other, these are the major factors in the dilemma which transfixes the Jew today."

Prague Police Arrest Inciters To Boycott Step

Colleagues of Attorney Who Passed Out Leaflets Seized

(Jewish Telegraph Agency)
PRAGUE, Sept. 23.—Police today arrested many colleagues of the Czechoslovakian Nazi lawyer, Fritz Chwatla, arrested today on charges of passing out leaflets calling for an organized boycott against the Jews of Czechoslovakia.

A search of Chwatla's home, police discovered a mass of correspondence between him and the Nazi Propaganda Ministry in Berlin, including a detailed plan for carrying out the anti-Jewish boycott in Czechoslovakia and requesting Paul Joseph Goebbels, the Nazi Minister of Propaganda, to broadcast over German radio stations an order to all Germans in foreign countries to boycott Jews. Police also discovered that German children in Czechoslovakian schools had been assigned to carry out the main work of anti-Jewish boycott propaganda and to distribute anti-Jewish leaflets printed on secret anti-Semitic presses.

Chwatla, at whose home police found an enormous amount of Jewish propaganda material printed in Nazi Germany, is to face a court on charges of conspiring against the public peace.

Lande Points to Montreal as Model for Kashruth System

Returned from a vacation trip to Montreal, Louis Lande, chief examiner for the President of the Board of Aldermen expressing the opinion that New York has great things to learn from the Canadian city in the administration of Kashruth.

Interviewed by the Jewish Daily Bulletin, Mr. Lande, who has played a prominent role in Kashruth problems in New York, said that in Montreal shochetim are hired and paid by the Jewish community council, rather than by market-owners as in New York.

"I had a great opportunity to observe the operations of the Vaad," Lande said, "through the kindness of Mordecai M. Peters, its executive secretary."

Mr. Lande explained that the Vaad comprises five communal and religious leaders elected annually at a meeting of delegates of every synagogue, fraternal and other Jewish community service institution in the city.

The Vaad employs rabbinical supervisors and shochetim. By this method, these functionaries are more interested in the Jewish community which employs them than in the market-owners who are motivated by a desire for profit, he said. In New York shochetim are employed by market owners.

Socialists to Probe Anti-Semitic Coup

South Bend Delegates Charge Pro-Bilerites Captured Charter of Local

(Special to the J.D.B.)
MILWAUKEE, Sept. 19.—An investigation into charges launched by the Socialist Party's national executive committee into charges that "anti-Semitic and pro-Bilerites" has captured the Socialist local in South Bend, Ind. At its recent quarterly convention in Milwaukee, the committee heard the charges and notified that a secret group had been organized in South Bend to keep the party from becoming "too Jewish."

This delegation charged that the Indiana State Socialist executive committee had by deceptive means lifted away the charter of the previous functioning Socialist local and then recognized a new local that was "anti-Semitic, anti-Negro, nationalistic and unsocialist" with Emma Henry, the Indiana State secretary, denied the charges. Nevertheless, the national executive committee here unanimously ordered the Indiana State executive committee to restore the charter of St. Joseph county (in which South Bend is located) and revoke the one irregularly granted to the new local in South Bend.

veniled also that "one large factory (producing munitions) in Germany has doubled the number of its employes since Hitler came to power," while the next ranking company "has tripled the number of employes in the same period."

Documentary evidence has been presented to substantiate the charge that Germany, in violation of the Treaty of Versailles, is being rearming, feverishly increasing its military airplane equipment under the guise of purchases for commercial purposes.

There is not the slightest doubt any longer that, despite Hitler's prating about peace, Naziland is preparing for a new war. Nor is there any doubt that, despite Dr. Hjalmar Schacht's flirtry excuses for Germany's failure to meet her obligations to foreign countries and to satisfy investors, Germany is spending vast sums of the funds borrowed in foreign lands, for military preparations and for vicious propaganda at home and abroad.

The present leaders of Germany are not only defying world public opinion but, by Machiavellian methods, are also seeking to undermine the foundations of peace and of democratic institutions.

This move is aimed at strengthening Conservative Judaism through the section and at creating an organization through which established congregations can help smaller communities which have no organized religious life. Austria Church Organ Attacks Hebrew Ritual

Catholic Paper Warns of Jews Who Live by 'Shulchan Aruch'

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)
 VIENNA, Sept. 6.—Legal authorities are warned to be careful in dealing with Jews who live according to the Shulchan Aruch, Hebrew manual of ritual, in an article in the current Better Future, semi-official Catholic publication, by Dr. Severin Grill.

The article attempts to show the difference between the teachings of the Shulchan Aruch and the teachings of the Talmud.

"It is generally conceded," the writer states, "that the Talmud only concedes minor rights to the non-Jew, the Goy. The Goyim of the Talmud are not the Christians but only heathens."

The Shulchan Aruch is attacked as discriminating against Christians rather than heathens.

"Legal authorities therefore should be careful in dealing with those who live according to the Shulchan Aruch," the writer concludes.

The Neue Welt sees in this article a blow to the Agudist movement. The Neue Welt comments as follows:

Hoped for Leadership.

"Many Agudists accepted the downfall of the Parliamentary system in Austria and the establishment of a strict ecclesiastical order and guidance with satisfaction. They hoped that their aims would be fully understood by the new government. Some circles even went so far as to see a victory for the Agudist movement over the national, liberal and other Jewish movements. With more or less justification it was said that the new leaders would from now on be able to act as the chosen leaders of the Austrian Jews."

"But an influential Catholic periodical prints an article by a writer highly estimated in Catholic circles in which the Shulchan Aruch is vehemently attacked. This is the very book which forms the foundations of the Agudist's belief. The Catholic writer alleges that the content of the Shulchan Aruch is unethical and immoral and even proposes to threaten the equality before the laws of those who live according to the book."

"This will prove a great disappointment to the Agudists. They should learn from this that there are no privileged and selected groups among the Jews as it is believed by the Agudists. Jewry is subject to equality and persecution regardless of the form in which it presents itself to its environment."

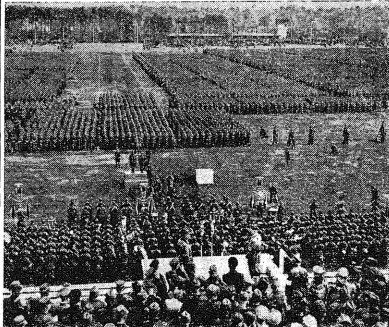

Citrus Groves Expand

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)
 JERUSALEM, Sept. 2.—The Jewish area of citrus groves in Palestine increased by 30,000 dunams in 1933, by 35,000 dunams in 1934 and the increase is estimated at 30,000 dunams in 1934. At the end of this year the Jewish area of citrus groves will be 150,000 dunams, it is expected, or sixteen times the area of 1925.

Jewish Influence in America Is Attacked by Der Stuermer

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)
 NUREMBERG, Sept. 10.—The evil influence of the Jews on the life of the United States is described in a special dispatch to Julius Streicher's Der Stuermer from its New York correspondent.

The correspondent quotes an alleged statement of Benjamin Franklin admonishing his compatriots to beware of the Jews lest they dominate and ruin the United States within two hundred years.

The high percentage of Jews in influential positions in the United States is cited as substantiation of "Franklin's prophecy." According to the Stuermer, those Jews, who represent four per cent. of the population, control sixty-five per cent. of all industrial enterprises, ninety per cent. of all newspapers and periodicals and ninety-five per cent. of all theatres, cinemas and radio broadcasting companies.

The correspondent finds that seventy-four per cent. of all "war millionaires" in New York are Jewish. This he ascribes to the supervision of Bernard Baruch over 247 branches of industry during the World War.

Louis T. McFadden is lauded as one of the few Congressmen fearless enough to talk openly against the Jews. McFadden is quoted as accusing the government of handing over American finance to the Jews.

Pelley's Silver Shirts come in for warm sympathy at the hands of the Stuermer's correspondent. He finds it quite natural that the Jews, who own all newspapers and news-agencies, should do their best to impede the circulation of Silver Shirts. He is particularly complimentary regarding it as "remarkable" that the only New York paper to record the event for the following Monday was the Jewish Daily Bulletin.

This Is News Too

The correspondent lists the principal persons fighting the Silver Shirts. They are the "Jewish immigration commissioners" Dickstein, Mr. Untermeyer and Rabb Wise who are credited with the ability to enlist the support of officials, the press and the broadcasting stations against the Silver Shirts.

Dean Inge Weighs Bible, Finds Parts of Book Excel Entirety

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)
 LONDON, Sept. 8.—Stating that extracts from the Bible are better than the whole Book, Dean Inge, retired rector of St. Paul's, made some candid statements criticizing the Old Testament in an address at Birmingham before the Modern Churchmen's Conference. The title of his address was "The Use and Misuse of the Bible."

Declaring that a great change has taken place in the Englishman's attitude to the Bible during the last thirty or forty years, the man who is known as the "Gloomy Dean" said:

"In my young days one found a copy of the Bible not only in every guest room in private houses, but in many hotel bedrooms. A chapter was read by most religious people either in private or in family prayer. But when I became an examining chaplain I found that even the young men from the theological colleges were very badly grounded in the Bible."

"Much Harm Done"

"An intelligent and devout use of the Bible," Dean Inge continued, "is a valuable part of education and no other Book can take its place, but I do not, however, wish to advocate a return to the old, uncritical and undiscriminating use of the Scriptures. Much harm has been done and much infidelity manufactured by the untenable attitude which many old-fashioned people still suppose to be obligatory upon Christians in dealing with the Old Testament. I think extracts from it are better than the whole Book."

Dean Inge remarked upon the Oriental ferocity of the Psalms, which makes them quite unfit for use in public worship, in his opinion. He pointed out that they are not used in the synagogues today. The Psalms, the Dean stated, picture the Jew as a terrible hater. He often is so still, he declared.

Other Comment

The Song of Solomon, he stated, was not written by Solomon and is not a religious book at all, but a collection of love lyrics, probably to be sung at marriages. The Dean's opinion of Job is that it contains the finest poetry in the Old Testament. The Book of Daniel he holds deservedly popular but not true history. The Book of Ruth, to him, is a "very charming pastoral symphony"; the Book of Jonah has historical value; and the Book of Esther is a very interesting story, although God's name is not mentioned in it.

Jewish Nurses In Vienna Lose Posts to Nuns

Municipal Kindergartens Coming Under Sway of Catholics

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)
 VIENNA, Sept. 5.—Nuns are being enrolled as nurses in municipal kindergartens while Jewish nurses are being systematically discharged, a city-wide Jewish Telegraphic Agency survey completed today revealed.

The kindergartens, which comprise all the children of the poorer and middle classes between three and six years of age, are slowly coming under Catholic influence.

Jewish parents are reacting to this tendency by withdrawing their children from the kindergartens.

Those who have sufficient financial resources send their children to special Jewish kindergartens. Others allow their children to while their time away on Vienna's streets receiving their instruction from ur-chims rather than in kindergartens.

Palestine Immigration Officer Visits Warsaw

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)
 WARSAW, Sept. 8.—Edwin Samuel, assistant director of the Palestine Immigration Department, is to arrive here tomorrow in order to acquaint himself with the problems of emigration of Polish Jews to Palestine.

His visit here, it is understood, is planned to enable him to see at first-hand the situation of the Polish Jews and the special training thousands of Jewish youths are undergoing to prepare for proceeding to Palestine.

Jews have introduced a bill into Congress prohibiting all naturalized United States citizens from mentioning the racial problem in "dashed to the Stuermer's readers. The correspondent is of the opinion that, owing to the strong "hikramanean current of anti-Semitism in the United States, "an 'elementary eruption of purely Aryan ideology is only a question of time."

Brodetsky Says Palestine Home Issue No More

Professor Optimistic in Address to Berlin Zionist Group

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence) — BERLIN, Sept. 12.—Whether Palestine should become a real home for only a spiritual center, a conventional question, now obsolete, Professor Selig Brodetsky told the Berlin Zionist Federation while making a short stay in the city during his trip from Warsaw to London.

Professor Brodetsky, who is the head of the Political Department of the Jewish Agency, was addressing a meeting called under the slogan "United Action in Zionism—United Action in Palestine."

Stressing the need of surveying the general situation of the Jews and Zionism, the professor laid emphasis on the necessity of concentration of all Zionist forces.

After picturing the transformation Jewish life has undergone in the last thirty years, the professor said Jewish immigration into Palestine can be compared to the widespread movement to the United States before the Jewish War.

"Sees Millions Living There" — "The 300,000 Jews who are at present living in Palestine are only to be viewed as a sample of the Jews who are destined to repopulate the homeland," he declared.

The president of the Berlin Zionist Federation, Herr Benno Cohn, expressed his satisfaction that the contact between the German Zionists and the executive organ of the Zionist World Movement had been strengthened by Professor Brodetsky's visit.

Dr. Franz Meyer, speaking on Zionist movement in Germany, expressed the hope that the movement in Germany would be able to overcome its internal dissensions and could devote more attention than hitherto to its constructive duties.

Warsaw Jews Act To Help Refugees

Plan Special Drive to Speed Stranded Reich Exiles On to Palestine

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence) — WARSAW, Sept. 2.—A special campaign to raise funds which will enable German-Jewish refugees stranded here to proceed to Palestine will be inaugurated shortly, it was announced by the United Jewish Aid Committee.

Very few German Jews have found it possible to earn their livelihood here and for most of them Palestine is the only hope. A number of families which came here in the hope of finding orientation already have certificates of entry into Palestine but lack the necessary "passage money," the funds needed to cover the cost which will be put forward to increase the quota of certificates available for refugees and their kin, since reports are being received from France and other countries, are greatly hampered in their work by lack of funds.

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence) — LONDON, Sept. 9.—The total amount received to date in response to the second appeal of the Central British Fund for the Relief of German Refugees is £174,300, the Jewish Chronicle states.

The first appeal last year resulted in £203,826 being collected. Keep up with Jewish news by reading the Jewish Daily Bulletin, only English-Jewish daily newspaper.

Rundschau Denies Nazis' View Being Jewish Constituents Defect

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence) — BREITENBURG, Sept. 12.—If a Jew is no defect, the Juedische Rundschau, official organ of the German Zionist Federation, asserted in an editorial on a letter brought by the Rietz department store against the Westdeutscher Beobachter because of a charge made by the latter paper that the Rundschau is full of Jewish constituents.

"The department store was founded by a Jew whose gifts of organization built up a great enterprise in spite of the fact that the Rundschau says.

"After the change of regime in 1933, there was a reduction of Jewish participation, and the question is whether the firm is Jewish or not. The Cologne Chamber of Industry and Trade expressed doubts. Arguments were put forward to show. We can understand anyone fighting for his livelihood.

"The Aryan principle does not apply in commerce, but the idea about non-Aryans has penetrated deep, even into economic life. The Westdeutscher Beobachter is not alone in this. The fact that the party is as much as ever opposed to department stores.

"If that is so, we fail to see what the point of the question is at all, since the firm is against the department stores would have to be waged no matter who the owners.

"We are concerned with the moral, not the economic aspect," the Rundschau continues, "with the fact that it is necessary to bring an objection to clear oneself of the reproach of being Jewish, as if being of Jewish origin, or connected with Jews, were a defect which would make one inferior."

"People do not always realize what a humiliation such a state of things is for the Jews. We often hear people say that they do it after money and profits—a false view. It is only a particular class of Jews that is so attracted to money-making, exactly like the same of non-Jews.

"And as among non-Jews, so too there are among Jews a vast number of people who are very bad business men who do not understand a thing about money-making, idealists, dreamers, seekers after wisdom, or just plain common sense."

"The Jewish people as such certainly does not place material value first, and even if some who are called Jews think in the first place of the loss to their business, the Jew as such feels the hurt more deeply. He knows that being a Jew is a hard fate, but no defect."

"Our Jewish origin links us with numberless generations, with a glorious and creative past, a unique history of our hands and, though often suffering, we have retained our unique existence."

"We have the marks of our various roads upon us. We sought to adjust ourselves and to give the best that is in us. We contrived to clear up our hands and the achievements of our brains to the tasks of the surrounding world, including its economic life. The exclusion and disqualification in Jews' spheres of activity, spiritually, for although those with insight among the Jews knew that the Jewish question exists and demands to be cleared up, and demands perhaps also social sacrifice on the part of the Jews, no one was prepared for this abrupt break."

"What hurts us is not the economic loss, it is the sudden change of attitude of so many fellow citizens, the new valuation that has led people to seek to establish publicly, through the law court or otherwise, that they have nothing to do with Jews. We always knew that we Jews have a separate existence, because we are Jews. We always knew that on this basis Jewish life must be built up on new forms.

"This naturally requires keeping a certain distance in all those spheres of life which the German nation regards as being, or belonging to its own national tradition. We believe today, but that, only on this basis will it be possible to build up anew our relations with the German fellow citizens, with emphasis on our Jewish separateness.

"We are not speaking now of questions of legislation but of every day human life. Even today we can still hear in certain Jewish quarters the opinion that there is no Jewish question, that Christian and Jewish Germans are not distinguished from each other in any essential points, that the only difference is racial, in the fact that we are treated in law as non-Aryans. If this legislation were repealed, these people think that every difficulty would disappear."

"This idea is dangerous to the Jewish public, because it means shutting its eyes to the most important fact which will have to be before us, the conversion of the Jewish community into a living organism."

"Many Jews have become conscious Jews only in the last year, but it would be dangerous if they were to consider themselves only freed by the grace of anti-Semitism."

"We are Jews, not only non-Aryans. We Jews are very far from wanting to proclaim our Judaism provocatively, and we repudiate also the method of glorifying for spite."

"We live in a world which will be a liever it to be defect to be a Jew. We must shake off this idea from ourselves, and therefore it is indispensable that every Jew must be able to become conscious of that still remains of Jewish life, adjust himself to it, and, above all, assume full responsibility for things Jewish."

"It is not enough to accept the pride of Judaism, because there is no other way. We must learn to feel not only the pride, but also the shame of Judaism, in order to prepare the spiritual ground for its renewal."

"We are still at the beginning of a new, a long and a difficult, but very joy-giving road."

Rulers of Reich Form Legion for Purpose, Reports Say

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence) — SAARBRUECKEN, Sept. 12.—Organization of an anti-Jewish boycott in the Saar region along the same lines as it is conducted in Nazi Germany will be entrusted to the Saar Legion, which the Reich government has formed for invading this territory, it is stated here.

The Saar Legion is said to be twice as large as the Nazi force which was proposed to invade Austria from Bavaria.

The other functions of the Legion, which has been charged with the task of carrying out a Nazi revolution in the Saar if the January plebiscite fails to result in victory for the German cause, are expected to be the arrest and chastisement of prominent men and an immediate reorganization of the police.

Jews of Palestine Very Rarely Arrested as Drunks

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence) — JERUSALEM, Sept. 2.—It develops that the Jews don't get drunk much in Palestine.

A report on an investigation into the liquor traffic in Palestine made by Dr. J. W. P. Harkness, deputy director of medical services, shows that of 237 persons arrested for drunkenness during 1925 in towns selected for survey, 173 were Moslems, 43 Christians and only 22 Jews.

Of 464 persons arrested on the same charge in 1932, 345 were Moslems, 79 Christians and only 40 Jews.

The annual number of arrests for drunkenness per thousand of population in Palestine towns in 1932 showed 0.6 Jews in Jerusalem, 2.6 in Jaffa, 0.2 in Haifa and 0.07 in Tel Aviv.

"The figures indicate that the population of Palestine as a whole is extremely sober and temperate insofar as alcoholic indulgence is concerned," says Dr. Harkness. Police inspectors and members of the bench who were consulted held that drink as the sole cause of serious crime is relatively uncommon in Palestine. The number of cases of road accidents due to drunkenness out of a total of 604.

The Belie's Day Book

The pesky Nazis have been extorting me on many fronts during the past few days. They seem to be a determined lot, plague take them! and they are evidently determined to plague me into an insane psychosis. But they better beware. When H.W.'s psychosis gets active, Svengali Hitler had better start running.

One of the low-down methods the unmentionables have taken of getting hunk on me for all those sensational exposes I have been giving my public is to have me typed by my typewriter at the other day when Cohen—the Romeo of the mailing department of this newspaper—comes dashing in to my cubby hole. His face was a bit chalky and there was a quiver in his voice.

"There's three guys outside asking for you," he managed to stammer through wobbling lips. "They're tough-looking babies."

"There is no mirror in the Day Book's sanctum, but if there was one and I had the presence of mind to look into it, I'll wager I would have caught myself blanching."

"Are you sure they asked for me?" I said wistfully, feeling my head under the microscope of their racing up and down my spine to set a new record for the course. "Are you positive it wasn't Vic, Cohen or that fat, cheeky exposer, the baby who drives me into writing those mean things about the Nazis?" Or our demon Kasruth who has been called "cock exposer, Danny Schorr?"

But Cohen wouldn't budge. He's stubborn that way. And, pointing his finger at me for emphasis, he repeated: "It's you they asked for."

With that, he ran. While I was gulping a couple of times and preparing to drag my limp carcass out to meet these three tough babies and my fate as stoically as possible, Cohen came dashing in again.

"There's five of 'em now!" he called as he coughed up the yellowish that was covering his eyeballs that he wasn't kidding me, either. "The Nazis have got me at last, I gurgled. Wondering dully how it would feel to get rubbed out and whether my comrades would erect a monument for me some day, I managed with superhuman effort to drag myself out to meet my executors."

When I emerged from my sanctum, the invaders were somehow occupying a corner of the city room. As I passed by their desks, my colleagues swear that they distinctly recall seeing me as I knes that was getting chronically chummy with each other. I'm not at all surprised at this. As matter of fact, I'm surprised that I didn't sustain fractured knes as a result of that trip down the room from my pigeon cote to that grim, frowning looking group of five knes who stood hands apart, significantly in coat pockets, awaiting me.

After what seemed an age, I saw the knes standing somewhat surprised that I hadn't been mowed down.

"Who did you wish to see, gentlemen and to this effect, to this day I don't know where I got the courage to ask it."

A broad-shouldered husky with set jaw and unmistakably "Aryan" features, clad in a tough-looking trench coat of the kind affected by our best gangsters, answered in a dainty voice.

Looking me up and down as if measuring me for an oblong wooden suit, he said: "I wouldn't see the big boss." "I said, do you mean Mr. B? And he said, no. Then I said, realizing in a flash that they didn't know me by sight and that Cohen had had the good sense not to point me out to them, maybe you sent this fellow here. He's the city editor, isn't he?" Without further ceremony I fled back to the comparative safety of my sanctum.

There, I must have fallen asleep, or maybe it was a faint. Anyway, when I was revived later, the five tough babies had gone. I looked around for signs of a struggle or for bloodstains. Not finding either, I counted the staff members. They were all there. Only then was I informed that the five tough babies were a delegation of the Anti-Nazi Minute Men of America who had come down to tip me off about something or other that the Nazis in Yorkville were up to.

Now, isn't that just like those pesky Nazis to start something nefarious just so they'd get the Anti-Nazi Minute Men to admit that they send their toughest-looking babies down to my hangout and scare the wite out of me?

But if I lost a few pounds and added a few gray hairs over that devilish piece of business, I am considerably comforted and elated over a recent affair which administered through my efforts to the Oscar Astor anti-Semites of the Empire of Zoo.

Readers of the daily newspaper may have across an item in the animal columns that told about Mortimer Mongoose (wrongly called Richey Mongoose in some versions of the story) being finally permitted to go on exhibition.

Now here's the low-down (and it's pretty low) about the whole business. According to my general press accounts, Mr. Mongoose had been kept in strict seclusion or seclusion because the government doesn't appreciate the Lester-goonian habit of swindling chickens and of innocently reproducing. Now that, of course, is a lot of boob, and hence, and hereby begging the government's pardon.

The actual facts of the case are these:—The general press had better not swipe this story from me:

Sammy (Cobra) Snake, the Nazi viper with no pretensions, member without portfolio of the Otrich cabinet, hates Mortimer's intestines and everything else inside or outside himself. It seems that he once tried to get the best of Mortimer, who comes of a long line of bankers, in a sharp business deal. Morty, however, turned tables on Sammy and Sammy wasn't able to take it. Ever since Sammy has made no bones about being out to "get" Mongoose. So, when Oscar Stunk and Stunk Stunk formed that anti-Semitic bloc in Zoodom, Sammy saw his chance to get even. The first hiss launched by this group, the reader may remember, was uttered by Sammy at Mortimer. Mortimer's racial ancestry was attacked. The wiper was tireless in his sibilant tirades against the Semitic Mortimer.

And now, for the denouement, Sammy and his venemous confederates got to the Zoodom emperor and blackmained him into keeping Mortimer in hiding. The poor fellow was then forced out of Stunkdom by the long layoff and probably would have expired in the pending purge that the officials are now planning to make against the Empire if not for the valiant intervention of this columnist. How this intervention was now doing business at the old stand again and he has H.W. and me to the government to thank for it.

SLANTS ON SPORTS

By MORRIS WEINER

Written at the Kingside Monday Night!

Madison Square Garden Bowl, Monday, 10 P.M.

Am I sore! Am I burning up! I have written how a daybooker must feel when he gets all wound up about the Dutchies. I'm so glad to see the stands are packed here because of the raw decision that rejected the howl of my to the welterweight crown. And I'm so glad because this story broke too late for the Tuesday edition of the Bulletin and because of the Wednesday edition cannot appear until Thursday. However, this fight year is going to be written up for Thursday while I'm still at white heat, thus chicaneering, as you know, and Irishmen.

Maybe Ross didn't look as good as he did last May but he certainly was better than McLarnin. Despite the referee's note that Jimmy had outboxed the Chicago Jew, we are adamant in saying Ross was the better boxer. He gave Jimmy what he had and the Irishman's ribs and eyes showed the results. In the last few rounds Barney's incessant pounding over Jimmy's heart had McLarnin's knees sagging and buckling and the Foster protegee was groggy.

"Nerts," said Ross. I was picked to win. If he had lost the fight he would have huzzahed for McLarnin as we did for Dubinsky after we had picked Cannonero to beat him. But how can you punch drunk and state and that he didn't win, realizing that Barney smashed his way to victory, and believing Donovan an unbecomingly pompous, pompous and statement? He said: "No fighter can fight in hurries and expect to win." Why, Donovan, old man, you're getting old. The general idea you punch drunk and probably heard that Barney's furries got him the last fight and you were so intent on watching just this one point that you forgot everything else.

Barney's eyes were swollen, out and bleeding. His ribs were red and his face was a mottled, mottling. He was battered, bruised, but still fighting. Jimmy's optics were closed. His legs were buckling. He was tired. He was tired.

We're with and for Barney Ross, win or lose. To us he is the champion of champions. We'll stand up and cheer for Barney Ross.

The Baseball Contest

Henry "Hank" Greenberg, the ball hanging boy from the Bronx, was elected by an overwhelming margin to the baseball team throughout the east as "the greatest Jewish baseball player of all time."

In the contest, in the opinion of the judges, was exceedingly difficult to judge, due to the great number of excellent letters submitted by the fans in the hopes of winning one of the three hundred world series tickets for the New York games.

Maccabi Moves

The first meeting of the Maccabi for the Fall season will be held at the executive and executive offices of this organization, 217 Broadway. David White, executive director of the United States Maccabi, will speak on the plans for the season, involving the second Maccabi.

Max Matzkin, the Maccabi ambassador from the Palestine committee will be the principal speaker. These Anti-Nazi Minute Men "Three hungry young men dropped into the office the other day for a chat with the editor. A reassuring word from the Daybooker, whose desk is next to ours, convinced us we didn't have to call police headquarters.

"They're Anti-Nazi Minute Men," said the Daybooker. "One of them wants to see you." "No wonder had he uttered these words than the huskiest of the trio shuffled up to us and asked, 'Are you the guy who writes sports?'" Sizing him up once again, we were at a loss whether to admit it or shift the sports over to H.W. But we could say anything but the A.N.M.M. continued, "Well, if you are, why don't you give Harry Danning a better break? All you have to do is write Weintraub and Greenberg and Weintraub. However, I'm a Danning fan and unless..."

After all, the editor read these things and he was right and that Danning has been breaking into ball games quite regularly these last few weeks; that his ball game average has mounted proportionately; and that his work behind the plate has improved tremendously, the editor will think we are a little bit over the top in writing it. Therefore, we feel the time has come to start the ball rolling on football.

Slants on Sports runs regularly on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The column appears today Tuesday. We could say anything but the Jew's issue in observance of Yom Kippur.

Palestine Admits Few From Vienna

Only 44 Persons Left City for Holy Land During Month of August

VIENNA, Sept. 10.—The discrepancy between the number of applicants for Palestine certificates and the number of those who are available continues to hamper the work of the Palestine office here. During August only forty-four persons were possible to leave Vienna for Palestine. For September and October more skilled workers than heretofore will receive certificates, it is hoped. The exact number depends upon the fact that Palestine shoe factories, metal works and other industries have indicated a need for qualified employees.

Cleveland Attorney Dies

CLEVELAND, Sept. 19.—Max P. Goodman, 62, attorney, organizer and first president of the Cuyahoga County Bar Association, died at his home here yesterday. He was president of the Young American Hebrew Association and the Cleveland Chapter of B'nei B'rith, and from 1921-23 was a member of the board of trustees of Duclid Avenue Temple.

WE SET our compass doggedly for the Fifth Avenue and then found ourselves wandering all over town in our shopping expedition for September. We even strayed from our intended course long enough for a flying trip to Sixth Avenue and Conger. It's always fun for an inquiring temperament, this shopping.

You'll find everything in my shop on hands and knees dragging new sorts of first-lighters out from under tables. Everything is gloriously highly-piggedy and no one bothers you when you go in to shop for presents and bright little labor-saving devices for the kitchen. What we were especially on the trail of was the new bridge table. It's a table that deals cards. It does, too. The salesman said that if you watch the wheels go round. You put the pack of cards in a little container, shove it under the table, and in a few minutes the time it took to deal cards in the good old-fashioned way, they're shuffled and in front of you. A little staggering to the seat of your brain that's granted why an automobile goes or a sewing machine sews. What a present to give to the people who have everything (if there are any of those left).

ONE woman * * * to change the ideas of prominent French stylists who design clothes for American women had a successful first few days ago. Mrs. Lane Bryant returned from Europe with the first Paris creations styled for the larger woman. She is thirty-six and over and constitutes a larger woman, and never before has she received recognition at the hands of Parisian couturiers. Mrs. Bryant selected eight models from the Paris fashion designers which are particularly suited to women who are not slender. For the first time, French styles, with added ingenuity, that do much to create the visual effect of slenderness, have been brought to America. Among the eight models are two short dresses, one and over, one dress, one dinner gown, and two evening gowns. Drecoli, Maggy Rouf, Mainbocher, Paquin and Mag-Helly created the gowns in this collection.

BUCKLE-WEISZ, which has long been a tradition in lots of families, has gone through a seasonal metamorphosis. Now that the smoke has cleared away the field is found to be strewn with brightly encrancing clothes and the grand hats are in the class houses. The collection of evening dresses is full of ideas. They're very excited about a new blue which should be seen. For just the right complexion it's a find. Most of the things are on the sophisticated side, which is pretty gratifying to any age. The color of frocks also is constantly changing, so any time you drop in you'll be likely to find something to stir you out of your mid-season lethargy. Prices that even your husband can't grow up with.

It cannot look her willow china in the face for one more meal without committing hari-kari or worse, the following message solemnly addressed. Get glass-mind. It's been said this is the age of steel. A palpable error. As far as the record goes, it's the glass house. And here comes Carol Stuppel at 443 Madison avenue, with crystal to make your table so shining that

Persuade Chile To Lower Bars To Citizenship

Jewish Group Convinces President Nazis Were Behind Difficulties

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence) SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 14.—As a result of the visit of a Jewish delegation to Arturo Alessandri Palma, president of Chile, and Luis Salas Romo, foreign minister, Jews in Chile will no longer encounter certain difficulties they formerly faced in becoming citizens or in pending for relatives.

Dr. M. Weinstein, president of the local Jewish immigrant aid society, as head of the delegation, related to the president and Salas Romo a number of cases in which Jews were refused immigration permits for their wives and children and were not admitted to citizenship. The delegation indicated that these incidents were largely due to the influence of Chilean Nazis and that such discrimination violated the provisions of the constitution.

The representation had the desired effect, and Jews who have been in the country five years will now be eligible for citizenship, while the Immigrant Aid Society will be granted immigration permits for the wives and children of local Jews.

President Palma has always been a friend of the Jews, and was instrumental in the ratification of the Palestine mandate by the San Remo. When the unanimous vote necessary seemed endangered by a negative vote from the Brazilian delegate, President Palma called the Chilean representative at Geneva, Miguel Cruchaga Torreal, to exert his influence for a positive vote.

Nazi Foes Unite To Keep Saar In Status Quo

Anti-Fascist Units Here Fight Acquisition by Reich

American anti-Nazi, anti-Fascist, and labor bodies have united for the first time to keep the Status Quo in the Saar Territory which will fight particularly the Nazi propaganda, it was announced yesterday by John Yaswan, representative of German speaking, anti-Hitler organizations and temporary chairman of the committee. The following declaration has been adopted by the group:

"We call the attention of the American public to the efforts in this country, sponsored and financed by the German Government, to transport free of charge to the plebiscite on January 16, Saarlanders living in America, on condition that they cast their vote for Hitlerization."

The document further charges that "according to recent published statement of the German Consul General, Herr Freytag this 'get-out-the-vote' movement will utilize money and 'vote-buying tickets.'" This organized corruption in America, it states, comes at the same time as renewed mass efforts by the Nazi Deutsche Front to terrorize and intimidate all Saar inhabitants in order to force the handing over of the territory.

Yaswan pointed out that according to the terms of the Versailles Treaty, all persons residing in the Saar Territory in 1919 should have the right to vote in the coming plebiscite. This includes many Saarlanders who have since come to America and whose names are on the 1919 Deutsche Front list. He said that Nazi agents in this country are reported sparing no effort or expense to bring them back to vote in the plebiscite. He said early in October the committee plans a conference with other representatives of organizations and individuals desiring to cooperate with it in discussing a course of action.

Fire Razes Lithuanian Town; Jews Homeless

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence) KLEIMON, Sept. 19.—The native Jewish population of Klucknick, which was completely destroyed by fire, has been transferred to neighboring towns, where they are being taken care of by Jewish organizations.

Many Jews were injured in fighting the flames in the town, some of them in Jewish houses, including the synagogue and school, were destroyed by the fire.

Praise Brazil Notables Who Assailed Nazis

Speeches by Dr. Prestes and Pereira Hailed in Rio de Janeiro

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence) RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 2.—Two recent utterances made here against Fascism and anti-Semitism have won favorable reception in local Jewish circles.

Dr. Julio Prestes, former president of the State of Sao Paulo, declared upon his return from a tour abroad that Integralism (Brazil's brand of Fascism) was entirely reprehensible and wrong, although some justification for its existence in other countries might be found. Brazil, Senior Prestes said, had liberal traditions which would not brook either Fascism or Nazism.

Dr. Prestes is leader of the Conservative party, the government party until 1932. His followers are still numerous.

The second attack upon Fascism was made by Egberto Pereira, author and editor of a new weekly entitled Revista Brasileira, of which his son, Ruiz Baptista Pereira, is co-publisher. The magazine is friendly to the Jews and the publishers refused ten milreis (about 75 cents an American dollar) but no publisher for the Yiddish translation has as yet been found.

Some time ago Baptista Pereres published a book which he called "The Jewish Question in Brazil," in which he endeavored to point out the danger of bringing anti-Jewishness into Brazil. The book has been translated into Portuguese, but no publisher for the Yiddish translation has as yet been found.

Austrian School Segregates Jews

Jewish parents in the city are protesting against the new order, which means their children will be segregated and will receive no specific Jewish education in the municipal schools.

A "cold pogrom" against the Jews has been in progress for the past few months. Without resorting to the violence methods of the German Nazis, which the Austrian government has dismissed Jewish employes from public service and professional posts.

Hundreds of Jewish bank employes, doctors and teachers and other Jewish workers have been dismissed in recent weeks and applicants for government posts have been required to prove "Aryanism."

The Christian Socialist party, the leading political group in the coalition government, has openly called for the cleansing of Austrian life of Jewish influence, and also has demanded numerous clauses for Jews in public and professional life.

Morro Castle Tragedy

"The reaction of the Morro Castle disaster, whose tragic events have stirred the feelings of thinking humans all over the world, reflects truly the trend of the modern world's philosophy of life," said Rabbi William Margolis in a sermon at Congregation Ohab Zedek, 118 West Ninety-ninth street.

"The great tragedy of the ocean liner, the Morro Castle, which sank in the Atlantic Ocean, 546 Ocean parkway, Brooklyn, is that we are trying to run away from ourselves, to stifle within us, hears the voice calling upon us to do our duty and perform our responsibilities as Jews."

Hull Lays Out Trade Program

"By trying to figure out the barter plan, although it is indicated that Secretary Hull looks upon bartering agreements as a temporary hindrance rather than an aid. Hull is understood to have more faith in reciprocal treaties providing a permanent basis for removing trade barriers to cover a world-wide situation rather than to correct a temporary ailment in any one country."

American objections to complying with Germany's suggestions are at present two-fold. To begin with, Germany has not evolved any means of meeting the deliberately defaulted payment on the Dawes and Young Plan bonds and has recently been sharply criticized for this.

Secondly, there may be an objection to the kind of goods that Germany would barter for American raw materials. Large imports of such German merchandise would play havoc with our already over-supplied domestic market.

Study Trade Agreements

The United States has never before done any bartering on a world-wide basis. Reciprocal trade agreements are being very carefully studied but it is impossible to say just when agreements of any kind will be made with Germany, or to predict that they ever will be made.

Should our government decide not to trade with Germany, it would be tantamount to boycotting our wares, as we would not be seriously hurt, as we are not dependent on her exports for such vital items as dye, and perhaps textile machinery.

In spite of Germany's defiance of the world with self-imposed isolation, she shows great anxiety. This aggressiveness at Washington is very encouraging to boycott exponents, because in their view the world is a trade structure—at home and abroad—has been seriously dislocated.

"It is feeling is generally that the harder Germany fights for trade treaties, the sooner Hitler will revise his program to restore to the world the normal conditions and respect she previously enjoyed.

City College Expects Ardent Nazi Student

The City College of New York has been expelled to "make the school safe for Jews."

It must be true: Fred Karl Scheibe, the Nazi in question, admits it.

Fritz, as his friends call him, is a leading member of the Friends of New Germany. He broke into the campus of the college last year. Once he was almost annihilated when he walked onto the campus of the eight-five per cent Jewish college wearing a brown jacket.

On another occasion, he charged at a public meeting that a certain Zionism revisionist threatened to assassinate him.

Now, after being "systematically persecuted," as he calls it, he informed a Jewish Daily Bulletin reporter that he had broken through Gottschall has expelled him.

"Technically," he said in his broad Teutonic accent, "they say I should be expelled from the Jews." But nobody is expelled for failing one subject. It is because I am a Nazi."

"I am expelled from the Jews," he continued. "My speeches were mild. But you ought to hear them now."

Gottschall threw light on the situation.

"Scheibe was only taking two courses," he informed the Bulletin. "This amounts to six credits. The normal number of credits for a student is six credits. Scheibe failed three of his six credits. That's why he was expelled."

"I understand," Scheibe makes application to the Committee on Course and Standing. It felt certain that he will be readmitted."

B'nai B'rith Chooses Gershenfeld to Head Membership Campaign

(Special to the J.D.B.) PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—Dr. Louis Gershenfeld of this city has been appointed chairman of the B'nai B'rith membership campaign for District No. 3, comprising Pennsylvania, New Jersey, West Virginia and Delaware, it was announced by Frank T. Kaplan, president of the district.

The membership drive is being conducted in connection with the recent 100th anniversary observance of Alfred M. Cohen, international president of B'nai B'rith.

In accepting the chairmanship, Dr. Gershenfeld stated: "The B'nai B'rith membership drive is a powerful medium to serve Judaism and humanity. It has for its platform the unity of all Jews, regardless of national affiliation or place of origin."
